

as well as much of the descriptive matter for the last two seasons was the work of his camera and pen. Whenever polo players were assembled Mr. Ross was recognized as an authority.

Mr. Ross was a Southerner by birth and was about thirty-two years of age. He had devoted himself to pictorial photography for the last seven years, but only during the last two or three years had he specialized on polo. Previous to that he had made a reputation because of his photographs of dogs at the bench shows. He had a studio at No. 125 Fifth avenue and bachelor apartments at No. 132 East 19th street.

PASSENGER TRAINS CRASH

Several Painfully Hurt at Long Island Siding.

Wading River, Long Island, June 17.—Half a dozen passengers, a fireman and a porter were injured near the station here to-night when a Long Island Railroad train bound from New York was in collision with a stalled empty passenger train on a siding.

The empty passenger train had come from New York some time before, and was standing on the siding when the second train ran into an open switch, and before the engineer was able to stop the train it had struck the first one, hurling the passengers from their seats and causing them to be badly shaken up and bruised and cut by the flying glass.

Dr. Terrell was called from Riverhead, and he made a quick run in his automobile about twelve miles, to the scene of the wreck. He found that none of the passengers was seriously injured. He treated all those who needed it, and then they went to their homes.

The switch is near the station, and was left open, it is said, by one of the crew of the empty train. This train had discharged its passengers and then run on to the siding. Both engines were badly damaged, but neither of them, nor any of the cars left the rails.

AUTOMOBILE INJURES BOY

Chauffeur Rushes to Hospital, Then Reports Case to the Police.

Alexander Hyslop, a chauffeur, reported at the West 4th street station yesterday afternoon that while driving the car of his employer, Dr. Joseph Converse, through West 40th street, he knocked down a thirteen-year-old boy who was crossing the street.

The little fellow, Max Sarbon, of No. 828 Sixth avenue, was not badly injured. His severest injury was a dislocation of the left shoulder. Hyslop took the boy, and placing him in his car, hurried to Roosevelt Hospital, where his injuries were treated by Dr. McCreary. The police did not arrest the chauffeur.

MORMON PRESIDENT CALLED

Sugar Committee Threatens to Send an Officer After Him.

Washington, June 17.—Joseph F. Smith, of Salt Lake City, head of the Mormon Church, must come to Washington to testify before the House committee investigating the so-called Sugar Trust regarding his connection with the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company. Replying to a message from Mr. Smith saying that an attack of rheumatism and business obligations would prevent his appearance here, Chairman Hardwick of the committee to-night sent this ultimatum:

"Committee has determined to have your testimony; the only question left is, will you come on the 22d without subpoena or shall we send an officer to serve you? Please answer at once."

At a late hour to-night Mr. Smith had not been heard from again.

The committee has sent telegrams of the same nature to all witnesses who have indicated that they will not be present when they are wanted.

LOVELORN MAN A SUICIDE

Reads "Goodbye" Letter in Park, Then Shoots Himself.

A man who was afterward identified as Sterling B. Price, of Winchester, Ky., committed suicide in Central Park, near Swan Lake, yesterday morning by shooting himself in the head with an army revolver. When his body was found by a park employee the weapon was still clutched in his right hand. In the left hand was gripped a letter, written by a woman, saying "Goodbye." The letter was postmarked from Winchester on June 8.

Thomas Foley, a park employee, had seen Price earlier in the day reading a letter. The man was standing on one of the small bridges over the bridge park. An hour later one of the park laborers heard a revolver shot. A search through the underbrush disclosed the body of Price, with a gaping bullet wound in his head. The dead man was well dressed and of refined appearance. A gold watch, a pair of gold sleeve links and his hat bore the initials "S. B. P."

A paragraph in the letter read: "Dearest, my dearest—Please do not come to see me to-night. You know how hard it would be for me to say 'goodbye.'"

The body was taken to the morgue, where V. W. Busch, of the Hotel Roland, identified it as that of Price. Busch said he had met Price in Winchester two weeks ago, and that he understood Price had been a marine in the United States service.

CASSIDY WINS SUFFRAGISTS

Queens Teacher Makes Hit by Loaning Them His Clubhouse.

The Queens woman's suffrage movement was launched last night at Joe Cassidy's Democratic Club house, in Court Square, Long Island City. Mrs. Harry Hastings presided and what the gathering lacked in numbers was made up in the sincere interest displayed by the several rows of men and women and children. Mrs. Hastings spoke of the kindness shown by Cassidy in giving them the use of the clubhouse.

Mrs. Harriet May Mills, state president, outlined the progress being made in legislative sessions and also told of the efforts being made to obtain the passage of legislation giving women the right of suffrage.

STARVATION KILLS WOMAN

Told Patrolman She Didn't Remember When She Had Last Eaten.

A shabbily dressed woman who said she was Rose Russo, fifty-seven years old, without home or friends, collapsed in front of a water fountain in Mulberry Bend Park yesterday afternoon. She had gone to the park for a drink. She died on the way to the hospital.

A man who was watching the woman from a bench near the fountain saw her collapse. He picked her up and placed her on a bench. Patrolman Kiley then summoned an ambulance from the Hudson Street Hospital. While waiting for the ambulance the woman told the patrolman she slept where she was and that she didn't remember when she had last eaten. She then asked when she had last eaten to eat. She replied: "It was so long ago that I forget. I had a piece of bread yesterday and it tasted good."

PARCELS POST URGED

Washington, June 17.—Efficient administration of modern transportation is all that is necessary to make one cent postage possible at once, according to the testimony of James L. Cowles, secretary of the Postal Progress League, who appeared before the House Committee on Post Offices and Pensions yesterday.

He urged the establishment of a parcels post, and said that practically all the people of the country are in favor of it with the exception of the express companies.

At 3 o'clock the travelers reconvened, but the Monus stirred them. Neither did El Cid. Mr. Cooper said then that the vessels would depart before nightfall.

El Cid worked out into midstream at 4:45 o'clock, where she anchored, while tugs and launches brought her strike breakers, from the Battery and from Brooklyn. Several negroes offered their services, but these were not accepted. Mr. Junger explaining that he would not employ negroes unless he could get entire crews of them; that mixed crews bred dissatisfaction.

The strikers chartered a launch and paroled the stream about the two steamships, stopping the tugs with strike-breakers aboard and asking the men not to take the job. The police threatened the strikers with arrest if they didn't stop the interference, but C. W. Frazier, secretary of the Atlantic Coast Seamen's Union, protested that his men were well within their rights since no disorder or violence ensued. They had to quit, however.

The same fate overtook pickets stationed at the entrance to the Monus's pier. There was no thought, apparently, of resisting the police.

In fact, no disorder attended the strike at any point. The crews quit quietly, the five policemen patrolling the Morgan Line pier, at West 11th street, finding nothing to do. Later the police along West street, in the neighborhood of the pier, were augmented to twenty, but they remained idle. Mr. Griffin had detailed six men to do patrol duty from the pier, but they were not needed. At 4 o'clock these six were relieved by another six. The plan is to keep a little company of strikers constantly on the watch to prevent violence or lawlessness.

El Cid, needing only about fifty strike breakers, finally filled her crew and steamed out to sea at 6 o'clock. But the Monus wanted 120 of the requisite number of stewards, seamen and firemen, so she continued at her pier waiting little batches of human material until midnight and after. Still she lacked sixteen or twenty of the right number, and gave it up for the night. Several passengers left the boat and went to hotels.

Mr. Griffin said he had thought the Monus would depart on time in spite of the strike, and that the delay had surprised him.

"What will the union do if the coastwise companies do not accede to your demands?" he asked.

He replied, "and, if necessary, all of next summer, and through each succeeding summer until they meet our demands."

A report last evening had it that the Atlantic Coast Seamen's Union and the Clyde Lines had settled with the seamen, but at the same time it was said that the demands on these lines were comparatively unimportant.

A spokesman of the Cristobal, of the Panama Railroad Steamship Line, reported that forty of that boat's stewards had struck out of sympathy for their brothers of the Monus. The Cristobal would sail until the middle of the week. The Alliance, of the same line, cast off with a full crew yesterday at 3 p. m., her official time of departure.

It was also reported that the crews of the Mayaguez, Confidence, El Amigo, El Chico and El Toro had quit. These two boats are used to pull the liners into the stream.

SEAMEN OUT 5,000 STRONG

Strikers at Glasgow Try to Prevent Men from Signing On.

London, June 17.—Both sides in the seamen's strike continue confident of victory. Havelock Wilson, secretary of the Seamen's Union, declared to-day that five thousand men were affected throughout the country. He was confident that they would be shipped at the full union rate next Wednesday. The strike he believed all day long, in spite of the "bluff" of the shipowners.

On the other hand, the manager of the Shipping Federation said that the position of that organization had not changed. He asserted that the Atlantic Transport Line steamer Minnewaska, which was reported delayed, had sailed on schedule time and would pick up in the Channel a full crew at the old rate of wages.

Lively scenes were witnessed at Glasgow to-day at the sailing of the Atlantic and other liners. Strikers flooded the piers, and endeavored to prevent the men from signing on.

The Anchor Line steamer Furnessia, the Allan Line Ionian and the Donaldson Line Cassandra arrived off Greenock short-handed, expecting to find men waiting to fill the vacancies, but it was late this afternoon before the Furnessia had sufficient men aboard to enable her to sail.

The Leyland liner Winifreda sailed from Liverpool for Boston, the whole crew joining in good time, with the exception of four men.

Shipowners at Liverpool are meeting the strike situation by importing foreign seamen, many of whom are taking the places formerly filled by Britishers. The men who refused to join the transatlantic liners sailing from Glasgow to-day were replaced by outsiders. The mail steamer Republic for Cape Town, which the strikers thought they had tied up at Southampton, got away this afternoon, picking up the crew in the harbor.

The stewards of the St. Paul, due to sail June 13, who are mostly British subjects, joined the strike at Southampton. They marched up the dock carrying the Stars and Stripes. Later they interviewed the American Consul, Albert W. Swalm, who explained the legal points of the question and their responsibility in deserting the ship. Nevertheless, the stewards persisted in joining the strike.

The Southampton stewards threatened to go out on Monday. They demand 12 cents a day in wages. It is estimated that there are a thousand strikers in Southampton.

Antwerp, June 17.—Notwithstanding the efforts of the striking seamen to tie her up, the Finland sailed for New York to-day on schedule time. She was manned by non-union men. The strike leaders appear discouraged at the attitude of the Germans, who are arriving here in great numbers to take the places of the strikers.

Dover, England, June 18.—The steamer Finland, which the seamen tried to tie up at Antwerp, arrived here on schedule time and proceeded at an early hour this morning on her voyage to New York.

REPORTS MAST IN WATER

May Lead to Discovery of Sloop Vayu, Lost with Five on Board.

Captain Smith of the municipal ferry-boat Bronx, which picks between Staten Island and Manhattan, reported to Lieutenant Paulding, of the Harbor Squad, last night that when he was drawing out of the slip at St. George he saw about two feet of a mast sticking out of the water between the most southern slip at the terminal and the anchorage buoy.

It was low tide at the time Captain Smith saw the mast, and by the time the police launch had reached the spot the tide had risen and they could find no trace of it.

The police believe the mast may be that of the sloop Vayu, which left the Beynon Yacht Club shortly before the storm on Saturday a week ago, and was lost with five persons on board.

The body of Mrs. Louis Le Millard, found floating off Bay Ridge yesterday afternoon, was the third of the sloop Vayu victims to be recovered. The bodies of Lemuel E. Smith and George Schmitz having been found off West Neck on Friday.

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Le Millard, E. Smith's parents of the young artist, have not been recovered.

TAFT SILVER WEDDING

inscribed: "William Howard Taft—Helen Herron Taft—1886-1911." On the other side is the coat-of-arms of the President.

Secretary and Mrs. Knox have sent to Mrs. Taft a tall silver vase.

The five silver vases sent by the Governor of Virginia and Mrs. Mann have also arrived. Lee McClung, Treasurer of the United States, has sent to Mrs. Taft a beautiful miniature on ivory, framed in a delicately chased silver case. Mrs. Francis Berger Moran has sent the President a rich silver frame bearing the photograph of Mrs. Taft and a like gift to the latter containing a photograph of the President.

A dozen diamond dishes richly engraved are from Mr. and Mrs. Harry Calvin Gage. The Gridiron Club's gift of a pitcher and tray has been sent to the White House, as has a handsome fruit dish from the men of the press room at the White House. The occupants of the press gallery of the Senate and House have sent a large silver dish.

One of the largest silver services sent to Mrs. Taft is that from the Commercial Club of Cincinnati, and a number of women in Washington society have combined in presenting to her a beautiful souvenir of the occasion. Still another elaborate gift is that from the wives of a number of the officers of the army whose husbands have lower rank than that of general. The gift of the Tariff Board is a large silver cup which may be used as a loving cup or a vase.

Mrs. Frank Ellis, Mrs. Rea and a number of the more intimate friends of Mrs. Taft have been permitted to see the gifts already collected in the library on the second floor of the White House. There are many rare and beautiful things from friends all over Europe and this country, while the numerous relatives have sent gifts to which too much sentiment attaches to admit of their being displayed to public view. The three Taft children, Robert, Helen and Charles, are also remembering the occasion, as are many of Mrs. Taft's girlhood friends.

"Aunt Della" Torrey Arrives.

Members of the families of the President and Mrs. Taft are beginning to fill the White House in readiness for the celebration. Miss Della Torrey, of Millbury, Mass., the President's aunt, and Robert Taft, his eldest son, arrived in Washington early to-day. Henry W. Taft and his wife, of New York, and Horace D. Taft, of Watertown, Conn., brothers of the President, and Charles Taft, his youngest son, arrived.

"Aunt Della" was driven immediately from the Union Station to the White House. The President was so much interested in talking over old times with her that he remained in the Executive Mansion almost an hour beyond his usual time and kept several scores of would-be handshakers waiting in the reception room of the executive offices.

ASSAULTED NEAR PARK

Crowd Beats Man Who Hit Woman and Took Purse.

Mrs. Ellen Bernhard, of No. 1219 Park avenue, while walking with her husband near the Central Park entrance at 86th street and Fifth avenue was assaulted last night by a man, and a purse was snatched from her hand. She was struck in the breast, and as she reeled her husband, who had endeavored to ward off the blow, was also struck in the face by her assailant.

Mrs. Bernhard screamed, and her cries attracted several hundred persons to the scene, including Patrolman Revin, of the Arsenal police station. A man was seen running away from the scene of the assault and the crowd followed him up Fifth avenue, catching him at 96th street, where he was thrown to the ground and beaten about the face and body. The man lay on the pavement as if stunned for a moment, then leaped to his feet and rushed up Fifth avenue again. At 96th street and Fifth avenue he leaped over the wall and disappeared in a clump of shrubbery in the park.

Patrolman Ahern, of the East 10th street police station, followed the man into the shrubbery. A moment later the fugitive sprang over the wall and ran along the sidewalk bordering the park. The crowd again gave chase and he was caught less than a block away. He was arrested by Patrolman Ahern.

"Search me," cried the man. "Look through my pockets. I have stolen nothing."

He was taken to the East 84th street station, where he described himself as Michael Anglim, a clerk, of No. 21 East 6th street. He was locked up on charges of assault and robbery preferred by Mrs. Bernhard and her husband. The purse was later found by Mrs. Bernhard near the scene of the alleged assault.

MAYOR "YEGG" LEADER?

Alleged Plot to Defraud Insurance Companies by Burglaries.

(By Telegram to the Tribune.)

Minneapolis, June 17.—Following the arrest of Dr. D. T. Dumas, Mayor of Cass Lake, Minn., at Hibbing, Minn., this morning, as the alleged "man behind" an organized gang of "yeggmen," it is asserted by O. O. Rindal, superintendent of Pinkerton's Detective Agency, that a widespread plot to defraud insurance companies will be unearthed. It is asserted by Rindal that supposedly reputable business men, desirous of making big hauls of insurance on destroyed property, are responsible for many robberies of safes and resulting fires which have been laid to ordinary "yeggmen."

Mayor Dumas, who warned the United States government that efforts to enforce a literal interpretation of the Indian treaty with respect to liquor selling in the Northwest would be resisted with violence, is a physician in good standing.

Early this morning private detectives and policemen, following a prearranged plan, surprised two men, "cracking" a safe at Puposki, eighteen miles north of Bemidji. In a revolver fight both criminals were severely wounded.

The detectives say that Dr. Dumas planned the Puposki safe cracking affair for vengeance on the owner of the store; that he furnished the explosive, and that from the other side of a thin partition in a saloon, Dr. Dumas played cards in the "comical" room in Bemidji, while at odd moments he plotted with his alleged "yeggmen" pals.

KILLS HERSELF ON LAWN

Unidentified Woman Commits Suicide at Mount Vernon.

A stylishly dressed young woman, about twenty-five years old, committed suicide last night on the lawn of the home of C. P. Miller, at No. 27 Cottage avenue, Mount Vernon, by shooting herself through the right temple. The Miller family were about to eat their dinner when the report of the revolver was heard. Mr. Miller ran out of the house and found the young woman lying on the ground with blood streaming from a gaping wound in her temple.

Dr. H. L. Baer, who lives opposite the Miller house, was sent for. He found that the bullet had passed through the woman's brain and lodged in the left side of the skull, causing almost instant death. Coroner Iles, of Yonkers, was unable to discover anything that would lead to the identity of the suicide, except a pawn ticket for a diamond ring which she had pledged for $30 several days ago in Manhattan. The ticket was made out in the name of "Miss Miller."

Mrs. Miller said no one in her household knew the girl.

ALLEGED GANG LEADER HELD.

Charles Bettrman, twenty-three years old, who, the police say, is the leader of the "Battery Gang," with a long police record, was held in $1,000 bail for examination by Magistrate Corrigan in the Tombs court yesterday, charged with felonious assault. It is alleged he struck an eleven-year-old girl, Carrie McKoon, of No. 35 Vesey street, with a beer glass on the head a week ago at Greenwich and Murray streets because he had been repulsed by the child and her mother as they were walking on the street.

Indicted with Los Angeles Detective—McNamara Accused.

Indianapolis, June 17.—William J. Burns, head of a private detective agency, and James Hossick, a city detective of Los Angeles, were indicted on charges of kidnapping John J. McNamara, secretary of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, by the Marion County grand jury here to-day. McNamara himself was indicted on charges of conspiracy to dynamite.

In all, the grand jury returned eight indictments, but named only three men in the charges. Three of the indictments are against McNamara, who is in jail in Los Angeles, where he was taken after being arrested in this city on April 23, 1911. One indictment charges him with "conspiracy to dynamite industrial work of the Peoria & Pekin Union Railroad at Peoria, Ill., and the other two are said to be for storing dynamite here.

The other five indictments are against Detective Burns, who is under $10,000 bail to the local grand jury, and Detective Hossick, of Los Angeles, who has not been arrested.

The grand jury reported that it found no evidence to sustain the charges of kidnapping against Walter Drew, of New York, counsel for the National Erectors' Association; J. A. G. Badoff, Drew's assistant; W. J. Ford, Assistant District Attorney of Los Angeles County, Cal.; and Frank P. Fox, of this city, the chauffeur who drove the car in which McNamara was taken from this city to Chicago, all of whom were arrested here and held to the grand jury for investigation.

Governor Marshall, who honored the requisition for McNamara, "acted clearly within the law and did, in the premises, what he should have done," according to the grand jury's report.

City Judge Collins, before whom McNamara was taken, and the Indianapolis police officers connected with the case were all absolved from blame by the grand jury.
